

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1893.

NO. 15

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—There were heavy frosts here last Sunday and Monday mornings.

—A party of about 25 went down the river about a mile last Sunday and had their pictures taken.

—Sells & Renfrow's circus gave a performance here Monday, which attracted a large crowd to town.

—About 20 of her young friends gave Mrs. Whitehead a call last Saturday evening and had a very pleasant time.

—Judge H. H. Tye went to Barboursville Monday night. Mr. C. R. Baugh, of London, paid me a visit Sunday. J. N. Sharp is out at his father's, near Dishman, this week fishing.

—Miss Birdie Keen, who has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Dan Keen, returned to her home in Covington Tuesday morning. Prof. Jones spent Saturday with his wife and daughter in Knoxville.

—Rev. W. J. Johnson is here at present, but has resigned as pastor of the Baptist church on account of ill health. Rev. Green Clay Smith preached at the Baptist church on Sunday morning and night. He left for his home in Washington City Monday morning.

—L. A. Leforce died at his home four miles north of town Monday morning, of consumption. He was the eldest son of Dr. Leforce, deceased, and was in his 26th year. He was a member of the Christian church and while his death was not unexpected, it was a terrible blow to his mother and younger brother and sisters, who looked upon him as the head of the family.

—Mr. J. K. Watkins was in Pine Knot last week on legal business. Walker Mason is in Barboursville this week attending court. Wm. Vaughn, an attorney of Jackson, is visiting his parents in this county. Mrs. John B. Fish, of Pineville, is visiting her father's family at this place. Mrs. E. S. Mow has returned from Cincinnati, where she has been taking lessons in China painting. Geo. Bowson and family are visiting Mrs. B.'s mother, Mrs. A. J. Curd. Miss Dilla Hill, of near Knoxville, who has been visiting Miss Theo Hill, returned home Wednesday. C. W. Lester, commonwealth's attorney, is at home from his circuit and says he succeeded in getting 20 cent to the pen.

—Last Saturday night Garrard Davis shot James C. Finley at Jellico. They were both from Williamsburg and had had some slight misunderstanding before. About 10 o'clock Davis went into McCauley's saloon and finding Finley, asked him about some remark he had made, when Finley denied making it, and Davis gave him the lie, drew his pistol and commenced shooting. Three shots were fired and one struck Finley, passing through his left vest pocket and landing near the spinal column, from which he died Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. Finley was unarmed and his friends think it a brutal murder. Both parties are well connected and Davis' friends say he will surrender soon and be ready for trial. Finley was buried in the new cemetery Monday morning.

BARBOURVILLE.

—Miss Lillie Clark entertained a few friends very pleasantly Monday evening.

—Circuit Court opened Monday morning with Judge A. H. Clark presiding and Hon. W. R. Ramsey representing the Commonwealth. Judge Clark's charge to the jury was clear, concise and pointed and has been the occasion of many favorable expressions from the lawyers and others. Too much praise cannot be spoken of our new judicial team.

—Tuesday was show day here and of course everybody came to town. The show was accompanied by the usual number of sneak thieves and pickpockets. The largest sum I heard of their getting in one pile was $95 from an influential but heretofore inexperienced countryman. Many smaller sums have been reported.

—Mr. W. R. Vaughn, of this place, was notified the other day by President W. H. Delaney, of the World's Fair commission, of his appointment as police guard at the Kentucky Department. I understand there is but one appointment of this kind for each State department or building and Mr. Vaughn is to be congratulated that he is the lucky person out of so many stalwart Kentuckians, any one of whom would no doubt accept the appointment with pleasure.

—H. C. Faulkner and A. K. Cook returned yesterday from Hyden court. Miss Etta Kelleys, of Root, Bell county, visited the family of Joseph Sampson for a few days the first of the week. Hon. John H. Wilson is reported very ill at Washington and his sister, Mrs. W. F. Costellow, left for his bedside on Tuesday morning. Mr. Wilson will be brought home as soon as he is able to travel. He has been expecting to leave for Kentucky for some time past, but has been prevented by sickness.

—Dr. Appleman will come prepared to remove superfluous hairs, moles, etc., on his next visit.

DANVILLE.

—There will be a hop at Linnietta Springs Friday night.

—Mr. C. H. Rodes has formally filed his application for the Internal Revenue Collectorship for this district.

—Miss Onie French, who has been very ill with pneumonia, was thought to be a little better Wednesday evening.

—The base ball game between Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Centre College on Monday evening was won by the first named, 17 to 4.

—A committee of the city council and of citizens met Tuesday and considered how to best entertain the Capital removal committee so as to bring the expeditors to Danville.

—Mrs. B. H. Perkins and children left for Middleboro Tuesday. Mr. Perkins has been there a week or more. Mr. C. B. Ball, of Munroe, Ind., was here several days on a visit to his friend, Dr. H. M. Marsh, who once lived in Munroe.

—J. E. Kent, arrested and taken to Lexington on charges of forgery and false pretenses, had been in Danville as the pretended agent for the Louisville Deseret Funit Co. He owes Tribble, of the Gilcher House, for a week's board.

—An everybody's meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at the 2d Presbyterian church Sunday evening, 23d, at 7 p. m. Young men's meeting at the Christian church same day at 3 p. m. Ladies' meeting same day at Baptist church at 3 p. m.

—Mrs. C. M. Scrugham went to Lexington Wednesday to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Stoll, Dr. W. B. McClure, formerly of Junction City, now of Lexington, was here Wednesday on his way home from the meeting of the Central Kentucky Medical Association at Stanford.

—Mr. H. T. Noel, of Lancaster, who has been in the box manufacturing business in Middleboro, was in town Wednesday. He has sold his establishment to a company for $19,000. This company will increase the capacity of the factory to three times its present extent. Mr. Noel will be a large stock holder in the reorganized concern.

—In the circuit court the following cases have been disposed of since Monday: Commonwealth vs. Wm. Mann, malicious wounding; same vs. May Barber, bawdy house; Bob Mayo, murder; John Fisher, bawdy house; John Raney assault; Thos. Calhoun, 1 and 2, concealed weapons; Jas. Pope, malicious cutting; Hugh Daugherty, gaming; J. R. Daugherty, 1 and 2, selling whisky—all continued. Kate Lee, arson, set for Thursday. C. R. McDowell sworn in as an attorney. Geo. Sandifer, assault, trial and verdict of not guilty; Fenton Terhune, gaming, 2 cases, trial and verdict of not guilty; Joe Veal, gaming, 2 cases, trial and verdict of not guilty, 1 case a judgment for $20 and costs; Thos. Williams and Frank Masonheimer, gaming, dismissed on motion of commonwealth's attorney. Maude Harris, bawdy house, trial and verdict of not guilty by instruction of the court; Gilcher Bros., selling cigarettes to minors, judgment for $5 and costs in one case, two cases dismissed; L. S. Logan, cigarettes to minors, $5 and costs in one case, two cases dismissed; Archie Harmon, breach of the peace, judgment for $20; Bud Mulligan, house-breaking, one year in the penitentiary; Eugene Owens, murder, trial in progress Wednesday.

HUBBLE.

—Willie Walker has gone to Winshorough, S. C., to visit his uncle Dave. Dr. Herrin was called to see Mrs. Catherine Blackerby Wednesday. She is reported in a dangerous condition.

—Lightning struck William Blanks' house, entering it in the roof, going down through the wardrobe, setting it on fire and burning up all the clothes in it. They succeeded in saving the house. His little girl was sitting in the stairway near the wardrobe and she was so affected by the current that she was not able to speak for several days and it was thought for several hours that life was extinct.

—Fred Tarr, the jockey, is said to have got $26,000 for his six months' work last year, and Mr. James Corbett, it will be remembered, got quite as much or more for his "work" during a much shorter period. The two industries they represent distance the professions.

—The official figures the warden furnishes the sinking fund commissioners show that the total cost of all food, both in and out of the hospital, has been $77,55 a day for 1,011 men in the penitentiary.

—The creditors of the town of Cumberland Gap, Tennessee, have filed a petition in chancery asking that a receiver be appointed to wind up the town.

—Fire damaged the stores in the Emery Arcade at Cincinnati to the extent of $60,000. It was in the centre of the block, which is valued at $10,000,000.

—The gold stringency is regarded by Secretary Carlisle as a Wall street scheme to force the government to issue bonds. He opposes such issue.

—Oscar Dunham starts to Missouri on the 19th.

—The Liberty boys went seining a few days ago and caught a fine string of fish.

—Ab Hall reports fruit all dead in the bottoms from the late frosts, but not hurt on the ridges.

—Mr. James Clarkson was married on last Sunday to Miss Serene E. Kanman, both of the Rolling Fork section.

—The regular term of the Casey county quarterly court was held here Monday, but there was nothing important before the court and but few people in town.

—There is every indication of a boom about Liberty. The town is full of carpenters at work. R. T. Pierce is repairing and building additions to his residence south of the court-house. Ab Hall is picking away at the gray granite for the foundation of his new hotel. Sheriff Branson is putting the finishing touches to his new residence. A. R. Clark is also building additions and making improvements about his residence. Who knows but what, like Stanford, Liberty might take a second growth in her old age and astonish the people? Your correspondent can well remember when Stanford was as dull and sleepy a town as Liberty and was then said to be the only town in the State which had full growth, but her mossbacks died out, moved away or were superseded by a different order of people, the railroad came and now for a number of years she has been putting on city airs and has entirely forgotten what she was 40 years ago.

MIDDLEBURY.

—Moses Wray attended the horse show here Saturday.

—Edgar Miller, the 8-year-old son of our "Bill," is news hoy now.

—Your types made us say that "Prof. Buck" would lecture here, instead of Prof. Rucker.

—A boy of about the usual weight and ordinarily good looking arrived at the home of E. S. Fisher on the 13th. Spears is happy, of course, while Mrs. Fisher is doing well.

—We cannot boast of the horse show here Saturday. There was a good crowd in town, but only three horses on exhibition, viz: Powell's Ericsson, George John's Sentinel and J. F. Crow's Sunbeam, that is being managed by Wig Dye. Cassidy, the patent medicine man, was on hand with his patent, self-acting, 4-horse power liniment. The cornet band was out and played a few pieces of music, which made up the amusement of the day.

—THE NEW YORK STARS.—The Augusta, Ga., Daily Chronicle of March 7th, says of the company which is to give a concert at Walton's Opera House, May 1st: The New York Stars gave the public a magnificent concert. The violin was played almost to perfection. The flute was heard as it may seldom be heard in Augusta; also the cornet. A celebrated pianist sat at the piano. An impersonator, whose falsetto voice was a marvel, and which stamp him as an artist of high merit, was seen and heard. The violinist, Miss Flora Drescher, a pupil of Jacobson, played with wonderful power and delighted her hearers, who gave her three encores with every appearance on the programme. She was quite a revelation. Seldom has such good, rich, resonant violin playing been heard in Augusta. Mr. Dewey Heywood's flute had almost a kind of witchery as he played it. No lover of the flute should have missed him. Mr. W. Scott Heywood played a mellow, rich cornet with exquisite technique and decidedly pleasing effect. Mr. Mills, the piano accompanist, was one of the best. Mr. S. Homer Eaton is one of the cleverest impersonators upon the platform and his impersonation of the prima donna with a falsetto voice in the song of "Welcome Pretty Primrose," was a gem delivered in womanly voice of genuine strength and sweetness. The music played was from amongst such as Lejouer, Leonhardt, Hollinson (cornet), Demerssohn, Schubert, Vieuxtemps, Piusuti. Those who were present enjoyed a valuable entertainment.

—Dr. APPLEMAN IS COMING.—The above announcement will be hailed with delight by the afflicted, as Dr. Appleman's visits are always attended with many good results to suffering humanity. He is a famous specialist, made to bear the honored title by the many miraculous cures tabulated. The successful results that have awarded his new method of treating chronic diseases are attracting wide attention and may be laid down as among the wonders of the world. The doctor's ad. appears elsewhere in this issue, and the fact of his judicious advertising combined with his success in reaching the masses by means of his many cures, has built up for him in this section an excellent practice which is rapidly increasing. Remember the date of his next visit—Tuesday, April 25, at the Myers House.

—The official figures the warden furnishes the sinking fund commissioners show that the total cost of all food, both in and out of the hospital, has been $77,55 a day for 1,011 men in the penitentiary.

—The creditors of the town of Cumberland Gap, Tennessee, have filed a petition in chancery asking that a receiver be appointed to wind up the town.

—Fire damaged the stores in the Emery Arcade at Cincinnati to the extent of $60,000. It was in the centre of the block, which is valued at $10,000,000.

—The gold stringency is regarded by Secretary Carlisle as a Wall street scheme to force the government to issue bonds. He opposes such issue.

Mt. Vernon and the Circus.

—Where a few people are gathered together it is more than probable that the I. J. man will be there or thereabout.

—On Wednesday Salls & Renfrow's Enormous Railroad Shows exhibited at Mt. Vernon and a crowd of course was there and as a consequence the above referred to I. J. man was there also. People who have the opportunity of going to circuses as seldom as the Rockcastleites do are not supposed to have much business in their heads when the band begins to play and the monkey and clown get in their funny business, but notwithstanding this, the Itinerant newspaper man got the attention of a portion of the large crowd, and besides adding a number of new names to his list, was fortunate enough to drop a goodly number of shillings into the I. J. coffer. There is not a surrounding county that gives the "Old Reliable" letter or more liberal support than Rockcastle and it is needless to say that it is duly appreciated.

—The show was first rate and was attended by nearly every man, woman and child in the town and county. Most all of the features advertised were presented and if there was dissatisfaction of any kind I did not hear of it. The usual "shell-game" and "three-card-monte" man was there, but business was evidently dull for them. Francis Curtis dropped a "twenty" with them and squealed, but when an officer appeared the "shell-game" man was "out of sight." Mr. Curtis is a man of about 50 years, but it seems that he has not had quite enough experience yet. Perfect order was observed during the entire day and it was one that will not soon be forgotten in Mt. Vernon.

—Dr. S. C. Davis, a prominent republican, who, after much persuasion, took the Intrigue when I was there 6 months ago, says that he would not now do without it for ten times the price. "You give it to us republicans pretty tough sometimes," said he, "but I have always found that what you say is true. Send the paper on and may be I will send you a name or two in a few days. I want my friends to have it, even if democracy does stick out even in the advertisements."

—The post-office here is being sought for by Mrs. Cleo Brown, J. L. Brown and Jonas McKenzie. The latter are both good democrats, while Mrs. Brown comes from a democratic family and is the widow of a democrat who, during his life, fought hard for the cause. Any of them would fill the office with much credit.

—A Pennington, who has recently taken charge of the Joplin Hotel, is pleasing the traveling public to a letter. A good, clever man and a right man for the place is he.

—Nobody enjoyed the circus more than did James Maret, who, by the way, is our splendid correspondent at Mt. Vernon. He took in the thing from beginning to end and was very melancholy, it is said, when he was informed that there would be no night performances.

—Several new houses have gone up here since I was in Mt. Vernon last and more are spoken of this spring. If the town should, perchance, get a lump on itself and bloom out into a future great, that sterling and wide-awake newspaper man, Mr. E. B. Smith, who pilots the Signal, should be given the credit of most, if not all, of it.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Samuel Doss and Miss Sophronia Yocum, both of the McKinney section, were married Wednesday.

—At Madisonville, Tenn., Mrs. David Burton is in jail charged with fatally poisoning her husband in order to elope another man.

—There is a woman in Seattle, Washington, whose first husband was a Revolutionary soldier, whose second husband was a hero of the war of 1812 and whose charming widowhood is attracting the affection of a man who fought in the Mexican unpleasantness. If this match be made and her third husband be called to the great majority, all the lawyers in Washington couldn't figure out her legal status on the pension roll.

—James Carter, Jr., assistant yard master at Rowland, and Miss Ada Gover, the pretty daughter of Mr. Curtis Gover, of Crab Orchard, eloped to Jellico Wednesday morning and were joined heart and hand. They took the train at Rowland and were accompanied by Miss Mamie DeBord and Holdan Stuart, of Crab Orchard. There was no objection on the part of the young lady's father, but the young folks preferred the novelty of eloping and did so. They will make their home at Rowland, where we hope happiness will always attend them.

Complicated Relationship the Cause of Suicide.

One of the medical journals relates the following as a fact: William Harmer, a resident of Titusville, Pa., committed suicide a few days ago from a melancholy conviction that he was his own grandfather. Here is a singular letter that he left: I married a widow who had a grown-up daughter. My father visited our house very often, fell in love with my stepdaughter, and married her. So my father became my son-in-law and my stepdaughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. Sometimes afterward my wife had a son; he was my father's brother-in-law and my uncle, for he was the brother of my stepmother. My father's wife—i.e., my stepdaughter—had also a son; he was, of course, my brother, and in the meantime my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather."

THE SAGACIOUS BOY.—You never can catch a Yankee boy. You can never corner him. A gentleman traveling in the country of Stanford N. H., where it is all rocks and boulders and bounded farms—the old farm-houses going to ruin—saw a boy of twelve or fourteen hoeing in a cornfield on the side of what would be pasture land on anybody else's farm. The corn was rather poor looking. The traveler reined in his horse and spoke to the boy. He said to him, "Your corn looks rather small."

"Well," said the boy, "we planted dwarf corn."

"Well, it looks yellow, poor and thin."

"Well, we planted yellow corn."

"Well," said the traveler, "I don't mean that. It don't look as if you would get more than half a crop."

"I don't expect to. I planted it on shares."

AN ACCIDENT.—"How did this happen?" asked the surgeon, as he dressed the wound in the cheek and applied a soothing poultice to the damaged eye.

"Got hit with a stone," replied the patient.

"Who threw it?"

"My—my wife," was the reluctant answer.

"Hnn, its the first time I ever knew a woman to hit anything she aimed at," muttered the surgeon.

"She was throwing at the neighbor's hen," replied the sufferer. "I was behind her."—Chicago Tribune.

AN UNDERGROUND STREAM.—A ditch from Augusta, Ill., says that four miles northwest of that place, a few days ago, William Allen bored a well on his farm, going to a depth of 77 feet. At that depth suddenly the entire bottom fell out, carrying all but about five feet of the wall with it. At the bottom of the deep hole thus formed could be seen a swift rushing stream. All efforts to fill up this hole have proved futile, the rushing current carrying away everything thrown into it.

ARE YOU GOING?—If so get posted ahead and go the best way. The World's Fair opens May 1, and from the South and Southern Ohio, the route via C. H. & D. offers the most advantages both in comfort and points of interest. The C. H. & D. in connection with the Monon is the only line running Pullman vestibule trains with dining cars between Cincinnati and Chicago. The unequal service of this route has earned for it the title of the "World's Fair Route." Purchase tickets via the C. H. & D. For rates, and full information call on or address any C. H. & D. agent or E. O. McCormick, G. P. & T. A., "World's Fair Route," 200 W. 4th Street, Cincinnati, O. Send 20 cents in stamps to the latter address and receive a panoramic view, five feet long, of Chicago and the World's Fair, showing relative heights of buildings, &c.

AN EXCURSION TO CINCINNATI.—The Queen & Crescent Route will run an excursion to the dedication of the new City Hall and a general demonstration in honor of that event will take place at Cincinnati May 13th. Tickets will be sold from all stations in Kentucky at one fare for the round trip, good going or trains arriving at Cincinnati the morning of May 13 and good to return on trains of May 13 and 14. D. THE HORN FLY.

It Bites Around the Cow's Horn When Not Biting Elsewhere.

The horn fly, Haematobia serrata, was introduced into this country in 1886 and seems to be rapidly spreading through the eastern and middle states and into Canada, proving very annoying to the cattle. The figures are kindly lent by the United States entomologist and are greatly enlarged, the parallel lines beneath the fly and by the side of the other figures showing the true dimensions.

The fly is dark gray in color, resembling the ordinary house fly, but only about one-third as large. It obtains its popular name from its habit of alighting around the horn to rest when not biting, us being a place where the animal cannot easily reach to brush it off, but it does no damage to the horn. It shows the same instinct in selecting its places for biting, usually attacking the back, flanks, under side of the belly and the neck or head. It works its way beneath the hair and gorges itself with blood as soon as it can enter its dagger shaped proboscis. These bites are very irritating, and as they usually appear in great numbers cattle are made nearly frantic by them, and also are liable to make themselves sore by rubbing the bitten parts against trees.

To prevent the biting smear the cattle with some cheap oil, such as train oil, fish oil, tallow or axle grease. If to a half gallon of this is added about a tablespoonful of either carbolic acid or oil of tar, it will keep the flies away and also reduce the irritation of bites already made and be healing to the sores if there are any. Kerosene emulsion also has been used with good success when diluted with nine times its bulk of water and used in spraying the cattle, but we prefer for the other prescription, as it will not need to be renewed as soon.

A—EGG. B—MAGGOT. C—PUPA.

The fly deposits its eggs in the freshly dropped dung, where the maggot is hatched out, and on which it feeds until ready to pupate. It usually brings out several broods in a season, the last brood remaining in the pupa form until spring.

To destroy them throw a shovelful of lime or of wood ashes upon the fresh droppings every day both in the yard and pasture. This will serve also the purpose of making more and richer fertilizer, and thus partially repay its cost.

Another way would be to have all the droppings in the pasture spread with hoe or rake twice a week, which would cause it to dry up before they had reached the pupa stage, and as they feed only upon the moist dung they would soon die.

American Cultivator.

Horses' Teeth.—Between 2 and 3 years old our colt begins to change his teeth. The middle pair of front teeth are pushed out by the permanent teeth which take their place, and the same process is taking place far back in his mouth among the molar teeth. From this time until the horse is 5 years old these changes of teeth are taking place at short intervals, and we may consider what steps may be taken if any cause interferes with the natural process. Occasionally a milk tooth, instead of dropping out at the proper time, becomes entangled between the two neighboring teeth and causes a great deal of annoyance to the poor colt. This is shown by an unusual amount of shivering, the colt eats very little, and in bad cases he spits out his food after partly chewing it.

Occasionally the breath has a bad smell, and there may be swelling of the tongue or cheeks. These symptoms are common to any disease of the teeth or injury to the back part of the tongue or jaws and should lead to an immediate examination of the mouth, and if necessary a visit to the veterinary surgeon. I have seen many young and old horses reduced almost to living skeletons by diseases of the teeth that were cured by proper means, and no doubt many such cases perish through the ignorance of their owners as to the cause of their malady.—Nor'west Farmer.

No kind of stock should be turned on the meadows in spring. It can get little food from last year's withered herbage, and the loss from trampling the ground while it is soft from being recently thawed out does an injury that damages the meadow for many years after.

It is doubtful policy pasturing meadows at any time, but if pastured in the fall the droppings of stock should be scattered early in the spring.

THE TROTTING HORSE.

Cause of Present Depression in the Trotting Horse Market.

"What is the matter with the trotting horse market?"

This pertinent question was put to the Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, member of congress from the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania district, this evening at the Shoreham.

"To enter into all of the causes that have led to the present depression in the trotting horse market would take more time than I can spare at present," said Mr. Sibley. "In a general way the fault lies mainly at the door of horsemen and horse breeders, which I will illustrate in progress in my diagnosis. The public must understand that there are at the present time hundreds of men breeding horses, some for profit and a few for the pleasure they find in the occupation. However, out of the hundreds engaged in the business only a small percentage breed intelligently. Too many breeders are ignorant of and indifferent to blood lines and the science of blending them, the result being that the market is glutted nowadays with trotters that cannot trot, with horses that ought to be drawing plows and lumber wagons.

"Then, again, the 'standard' craze has transgressed all reasonable limits. Individuality has too frequently been sacrificed to pedigree that had no other merit than blood to sustain it. With the sacrifice of individuality there have been foaled a large number of scrubby, misshapen, undersized and oftentimes blemished animals, which in turn have been sent to the auction mart. Nine times out of ten they have been too light for the track or road driving, too light for draft or general purposes and too small and homely for the carriage.

"Another cause for the present depression in the trotting horse market is by bidding at auction sales. There are auctioneers that are honest with seller and buyer, but I am sorry to say they are largely in the minority. It is within my own observation when I state that I know of horses sent to the auction blocks by their owners with the distinct understanding that if they did not bring a certain price they were to be bid in, while at the same time it was given out in advance by the auctioneer that the sale was to be positive and without reserve. Would be purchased. I have learned these things, have become suspicious, lost confidence, and as a rule are staying away from auction sales or not bidding if they do attend them.

"Last, but not least, the trotting horse industry is suffering from dishonest racing associations and unfair and dishonest judges in the stand. When a racing association will permit wealthy breeders and owners of horses to enter with the distinct understanding that if their horses do not win races in their class entry fee is to be demanded of them while others are compelled to pay, according to the rules, to the last cent, such discrimination is injurious to the horse breeding industry and disgraces breeders. Not only does it disgust honest men who breed horses, but these things deter gentlemen who would be willing to invest large sums of money in a breeding stud, tend to cripple the sale of stock and by implication the breeding business in general. In addition to this, more horse papers are published than there is a healthy demand for, the consequence being that the rotteness which I have illustrated is either defended or ignored. Only a few are honest and outspoken enough to openly expose and denounce the things spoken of. Until we properly racing associations and the entire turf parochialism and return to honest and open and above board methods, until every breeder erects a high standard of breeding and breeds up to it, the slump in the trotting horse breeding business will continue."

"Then you think high stud fees cut no figure in the depression?"

"I certainly think they do not. I do not know of a stallion standing for a high fee today or that stood for one for the past year which is not worth the price asked. Nor do I know of one that did not have his book full. Why, I paid a $1,000 fee for a service to Axtell. I not only paid the money willingly, but consider that I got the worth of my money. When St. Bed was alive his fee was $500, and even at that figure his bookings were not a premium. I have no doubt that high as are the service fees of Arion, Alerton, Kremlin, Stamford, Axtell, Sidney and numerous other high class stallions, their books will fill rapidly, which is the best evidence in the world that their fees are not too high."

"You have some of the blood of The Moor in your stud, have you not?"

"Yes, and value it highly for breeding purposes. It is hot blood, but virile and full of that mysterious quantity called nerve force. I have a daughter of Beautiful Bells that is very fast, but inclined to nervousness like her dam. By the way, I have been for some time investigating the pedigree of Belle of Wabash, dam of The Moor. I have got far enough in the matter to satisfy myself that she was not of Morgan blood, as is asserted by some. She was nearly if not quite thoroughbred and sired by Ballinger."

"How will the trotter of the future be armed?"

"With just enough iron to protect his feet. My impression is that in racing he will be compelled, in a majority of cases, to wear boots to protect himself, although their weight is a disadvantage to extreme speed. Mr. Hamlin, the great Buffalo breeder, illustrated to me not long since how much of an impediment they are. Prince Regent was trotting a race in the mud with boots on that weighed 14 ounces. He was tiring, and likely to lose the race. Mr. Hamlin ordered the boots off, and Regent went in and won it."

"How much lower is the trotting record to go?"

"It will probably get to two minutes for the mile, and perhaps a little lower even than that, but it will take time. The bicycle sulky has proven a great auxiliary to extreme speed. In my opinion, it is from three to six seconds faster than the high wheel sulky.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It seems to be the policy of the administration to allow incumbents of offices to serve out their full term of four years, unless charges can be maintained against them, or their democratic predecessors were fired before the expiration of their terms. This is especially observed in the post-office department and we are told that none of the Kentucky collectors will be disturbed before their time is out. Their commissions, with the exception of McDowell's, at Lexington, expire June 13, and his extends to Nov. 20. This being the case, there is nothing left but for the boys to grin and endure it, remembering what James says in his Epistle, 'Let patience have her perfect work,' so that it may have free course and be glorified. There is no use to attempt to crowd the mourners. When Grover Cleveland sets his head it is 'set.'

HON. ALFRED GUTHRIE, an ex-member of the Indiana legislature and a very wealthy man, did not take the late Mr. Samuel Weller's advice to beware of the vidders, and of a consequence he is in a bushel of trouble. He laid siege to the heart of the buxom Mrs. Kate Henderson and in bad English, worse spelled, he sent her billet doux which he now wishes he hadn't. The fires of Mr. Guthrie's love seem to have smouldered and when the time came he was unwilling to keep his promise to marry her. She has accordingly brought suit for $50,000 damages and the gay and festive millionaire may be made to give up some of his wealth to soothe the broken heart of the guileless widow, whom he so heartlessly abandoned.

WHEN Col. E. Polk Johnson said before Jim McKenzie's appointment that he had a "cinchona Peruvian mission," it was and is still regarded as the best pun of the season. We attempted to work it in our last issue on the colonel's chances for the appointment for which he went to Washington, but an intelligent compositor, who is an Englishman and can never see the point, set it up cinchona "on the" place, thereby wrecking the beautiful pun. It may be retrospective justice, but we did not take it that way, and immediately proceeded to reduce the number of intelligent composers, who are the veritable thorn in the flesh of all editors. Due notice of funeral will be given.

THE German editor of the Samaritan at Lexington is hiding out to escape the vengeance of the outraged populace. His sheet is printed in German and is consequently read by but few outside of that nationality. The Leader went to the trouble to translate a few of the articles and when it printed them a sensation was produced. One of them bitterly traduced American women and elicited it by saying "a married woman was no better than a concubine." The scoundrel's measure has been taken for a spring suit of tar and feathers, to which he will be treated when caught, if indeed more summary measures are not resorted to.

The Louisville Times' Frankfort correspondent says that "Laurie J. Blakey, the Kenton county scintillator, is here on business, made to appear important by his mysterious manner." The Capital informs us, however, that the object of his mission was to secure an introduction to his member of the Legislature, who has been in Frankfort so long he had forgotten his face. This may be true, but we opine that the real reason for the old man's visit was to refresh his taste as to the difference between Frankfort beer and that obtained "over the Rhine."

Mrs. JOHN Voss, who recently moved to Covington from Memphis, knows how to protect her honor and does not hesitate to resort to heroic means. Census Taken Huckathorn made improper advances while at her house, when she seized a pistol and shot nearly all the top of his head off. The booby claims that he was shot because he refused to loan the woman $5, but no one believes his story and the general hope is that his lecherous life will yield to the effects of the pistol ball so unerringly aimed at his head.

The strike of the 100 ballet girls in Black Crook for an increase of $2 a week in wages was short, sharp and decisive. The curtain was ready to rise on a performance at McVicker's, Chicago, and the whole lot refused to go on or take off the scanty costumes that only partially enveloped them, till the advance was forthcoming. The manager had no other alternative, and it came.

THE NATIONAL Editors Association will meet at Chicago May 16. Kentucky is entitled to three delegates and President C. M. Meacham has appointed Harry McCarty, of the Jessamine Journal; Sam W. Compton, Madisonville Hustler; Geo. L. Willis, Louisville Times. If either of these gentlemen is unable to attend, he is authorized to designate his own alternate.

In the case of Mulcahy, the "Do You Wear Pants" man, arrested at Lexington for selling his goods without license and sent to the work-house for failure to pay his fine, Judge Barr, of the U. S. court, has decided that his arrest is in violation of the Inter-State Commerce law, and ordered his discharge. Mulcahy is the same man who was arrested at Danville for the same alleged offense and who was given $100 by the authorities for the inconvenience they had put him to. He will now sue the city of Lexington for damages and the very litigious gentleman will secure further advertising. It is safe to say that the next time he goes to a town and asks "do you wear pants?" he will be answered in the affirmative and tendered the freedom of the city.

JIM RICHARDSON, of the Glasgow Times says the last time he saw Laurie Blakey, of the Newport Journal, he was on his way to the penitentiary. Alas! alas! how have the mighty fallen! But we do not wonder at it. Nothing could be expected of a man who persistently, with malice aforethought, evil prepossession and without the fear of God before his eyes, vilifies, scandalizes and attempts to bring into general disrepute another, as he has us, and the wonder is that he has not sooner gotten to the end of his rope. The length of his term is not stated, but all good people will unite with us in the prayer that it may be for years and it may be forever.

It will be small wonder that Col. Johnson hied himself away from the National Capital as quickly as possible after you read this which he publishes in the Frankfort Capital: "Washington City is a queer town and its laws most Puritanical in many respects. If a gentleman from Kentucky, for instance, were to be bitten by a snake on the stroke of 12 at night, he could not, for love or money, get a drop of the only sure specific for his wounds. If bitten on Sunday he would die before relief came." As the snakes are very dangerous in the Potomac swamps, Kentuckians are warned to take along the antidote to be handy in cases of emergency.

THE patriots who are anxious to serve their country in fat government offices should not become impatient with the motions of their Uncle Grover. The records show that he sent more appointments to the extra session of the Senate by 25 than any previous president and there is evidence accumulating that he intends to keep up the record so gratifyingly begun. Do not despair, gentlemen. If Mr. Cleveland does not get there with both feet and in good order, we will acknowledge our error and make due apology for the dishonor of having first suggested him for a second term.

EDWIN BOOTH, who was stricken with paralysis Wednesday night, will doubtless be dead before these lines are printed. He has delighted millions with his Hamlet and leaves no one even in a measure capable of filling that great role, which he made his masterpiece.

THE Kentucky Senate killed the cigarette bill and now the people ought to kill the Kentucky Senate.

On account of poor health Joe C. Jones has given up his law study at the University of Virginia and returned home Tuesday.

Supt. L. Hood and Road Master W. J. Wash, of the Kentucky Central, friends of the long ago of the writer, paid him a short visit this week.

Mrs. MARY FERRELL has rented of Mrs. Mattie Nevin her house on Lancaster street, recently vacated by James Milburn, and will move into it May 1st.

We failed to state in our last issue that Mr. Clem Beecher, of Lexington, was in town again Sunday, having been drawn by the same beautiful little damsel as before.

W. L. DUDDELL, of Rowland, received a telegram Wednesday stating that his wife, who is visiting in Cincinnati, is very low. He went immediately to her bedside.

Miss MATTIE BOSLEY took the train here Wednesday to go to Campbellsville to visit her brother, Prof. L. C. Bosley. She will also visit in Lebanon and Greensburg.

Col. D. G. SLAUGHTER was here Wednesday. He tells us that he has made many additions and improvements in Green Briar Springs, which he will throw open to the public June 10th.

Messrs. J. M. CARTER, for deputy collector, Geo. S. Carpenter for postmaster at Stanford, L. L. Dawson for store-keeper and ganger and John Engleman for a like office, were Gov. McCreary's callers from this county Wednesday.

Capt. J. C. RODENKR, of Gallatin, was here Wednesday and engaged Engineer E. W. Smith to lay off his farm at Rowland in town lots, which he will proceed to dispose of. He owns the high land back of the town, which includes many fine building sites.

Mr. P. HENRY THOMSON, Jr., of Fayette county, was here Tuesday in the interest of the Georgetown Cordage Co. The last time we saw him was when we boarded at his father's, who, by the way, is one of the finest old gentlemen in Kentucky. That was 15 years ago. Henry was a little fellow then in knee breeches; now he has a wife and two children.

THE high winds of yesterday blew down Sells & Rentfrow's circus tent at Junction City and spoiled the performance. Nobody was hurt.

B. H. DANKS has a big supply of souvenir spoons on hand to give away to every purchaser to-day, but if the number of customers exceeds the number of spoons he will order more and see that every one is supplied.

Mr. JOS. SEVERANCE, Sr., who on Wednesday celebrated the 40th anniversary of his arrival in Stanford, where he has since lived, tells us that there are less than a dozen houses standing now that then helped to make the town and most of these have been remodeled past recognition.

The directors of the Lincoln County Fair are requested to meet at the Court-House at 3 p. m., Saturday, April 22.

Mr. H. C. FARRIS has had a long winding stairway built from the engine house to his residence on the top of the hill.

JUDGE VARNON tells us that there are only 13 persons in the poor-house, the smallest number known for many years.

W. H. MILLER has sold to Bright Ferrell two acres with 192 feet front on Miller avenue, in the Miller addition, for $1,000. Mr. Ferrell will build a comfortable dwelling some time this year.

A DISPATCH from Lancaster says that T. J. Ragsdale, the seamless dress pattern cutter, skipped by the dim light of the new moon and left his hotel bill unpaid. He was here a week, but paid up in full.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of Crab Orchard Springs and its opening May 15. The low rate of board and the many attractions will doubtless draw a crowd that will test the capacity of the place.

This man is on his way to McRoberts' Drug Store to buy a reserved seat to the New York Stars, May 1. Do then likewise.

Frost.—The weather has been chilly and windy for several days and yesterday was exceedingly blustering. The worst of it is the signal service does not promise any better. The dispatch received last evening reads: "Fair Friday, colder Friday evening. Frost probable Saturday."

The committee, Messrs. Sam M. Owens, J. W. Flowers and L. R. Cook, have issued invitations to Masons to attend the meeting for the conferring of the Eastern Star Degree on Master Masons, their wives, daughters, mothers, sisters and widows in the Hall of Lincoln Lodge No. 60, April 22, at 2 p. m.

ANOTHER landmark is disappearing. Mr. J. E. Florence, who will rebuild on the site, is having the old Davison house torn down. It is built of logs and weatherboarded and Mayor Vandever says it has been standing over 70 years. A remarkable fact is that the building never in its long and useful existence enjoyed a coat of paint.

THE COURT of Appeals has affirmed with 10 per cent, damages the judgment of the Lincoln circuit court, which awarded J. W. Higginbotham $1,000 against the L. & N. railroad. Mr. Higginbotham was in the employ of the company at Rowland and while going around one morning to awaken the men, he was run down by a switch engine and had his leg broken, which confined him a number of months.

SIR.—A John Hodge, who lives near Maywood, took down his gun to go hunting; it was accidentally discharged and the load lodged in the leg of his little girl, who is only two years old. Dr. J. T. Morris was called, but the muscles and nerves were so badly lacerated that gangrene soon set in and amputation was rendered necessary. Dr. W. B. O'Bannon assisted in the operation and the little sufferer was doing well at last accounts.

Come and examine our tailor-made wraps and capes, our Zouave and Bolero jackets, our tan shoes for gents in Bluebird and Oxford, our Bluchers and Oxford for ladies in tan and French kid, our comprehensive stock of carpets in moquette, Wilton velvets, body Brussels, tapestry, ingrain, extra-supers in all wool, wool mixed, cotton chaine and all cotton, representing a $100,000 stock, and we have them cut without waste to the buyer. Examine ours before buying. Hughes & Tate.

THE rendition of Tennyson's Princess by the V. A. M. Literary Society of the Stanford Female College, at Walton's Opera House, on the 27th, promises to prove quite an event for amusement-lovers. The young ladies are practicing their parts daily and two or three of the best vocalists are preparing for solos between the acts. It goes without saying that the entertainment will be good and as the admission fee will be small, the house will no doubt be filled.

ROWLAND ITEMS.—The large store-room which Mr. Isaac Hamilton is building for Stephens & Knox, is nearly completed and that clever firm is back at the old stand ready for business.—J. H. Hilton is building a commodious store-room at the junction of the 'cut-off' pike and the Stanford and Crab Orchard pike and will move into it in a week or so.—G. W. Goodrich has set up a general supply store in Needmore.—Mrs. Mary Batner, of Richmond, has rented of Ben Martin his new hotel and is running it in good style. Mr. Martin retained the store room and is selling "a world of goods."—T. N. Jennings has sold to George A. Hammouds, of this county, his stock of general merchandise at cost and carriage. Mr. Jennings has averaged a trade a month of this kind for nearly a year.—Meadames G. W. Stephens and J. W. Carrier are confined to their beds by illness.—B. F. Routen continues in a bad condition and fears that he will never fully recover.

—There are now six stores in Needmore and the prospects are good for another one.—Mr. A. D. Underwood has been quite sick with a throat trouble.

DEBATE.—The housefull of people who attended the open session of the Stevensonian Society at the Seminary Monday evening were, as Chairman P. M. McRoberts expressed it, amused, entertained and instructed, especially amused. After a creditable declamation of Bryant's Thanatosis by Prof. Charles H. Holmes and an essay on Patriotism by Mr. W. S. Burch, the debate on Woman Suffrage commenced. Prof. P. W. Johnson led off in a speech full of humor and sarcasm for the enfranchisement side. He seemed to have swallowed Webster's International Unabridged Dictionary and that it had not agreed with him, for the big words flowed from his mouth in such copious quantities, now in seriate sections and then in alliterative armies, showing they could not have found an abiding place. He grew quite eloquent in his tribute to women and at the close of his effort was rewarded with hearty applause from the gentler sex. Prof. Holmes followed for the negative and literally raved and tore his hair as he contemplated the horrible suggestion that women should participate in the selection of those who are to administer the government. He read from history, sacred and profane, to show its preposterousness, held up the awful example of Wyoming, where the women have unrestricted suffrage, and quoted various and sundry writers in support of his proposition, finally sitting down after having worn himself to a frazzle and completely annihilated (?) his opponent. The next speaker was Mr. Clarence E. Tate and he championed the affirmative side. He dealt more in arguments than in sophistry and presented them in such charming diction that when he concluded he was almost hidden under a shower of lilacs. The last orator was Mr. W. S. Burch. He was "agin" women voting and he treated the question quite humorously. None but the "short-haired" women, he insisted, want to vote and these he attempted to laugh to scorn. Fortunately for him, no one with short hair was in the audience, or he might have been called down for his ungraciousness. His speech closed the debate and Chairman McRoberts having appointed Rev. W. A. Slaymaker, W. H. Higgins and our reporter judges, the question was submitted to them, when, although each is opposed to woman suffrage, a verdict was unanimously rendered for the affirmative side, which had the best of the argument. In announcing the decision Mr. Slaymaker took an unfair advantage of a "young," bashful and unsophisticated member of the committee, which might have caused serious trouble had he not quickly and fully apologized. Barring this exciting episode, everything passed off in a delightful manner and the consensus of opinion was that it was decidedly the best show of the season. The Society is to be congratulated and thanked for furnishing so enjoyable an evening's entertainment.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Rev. W. E. Arnold is down with the measles and there will be no services at the Methodist church Sunday.

—Elder George Darsie, of Frankfort, closed a meeting at the Mt. Sterling Christian church, Tuesday night, with 50 additions.

—The Bowling Green Times says $2,300 was raised at the Jones meeting there. Such shows come high, but it seems that the people will have them.

—As a result of Sam Jones' Bowling Green meeting the city council has on petition of the ladies declined to renew liquor license. The question will be tested in the courts.

—The convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, which meets in Indianapolis May 10, will represent all the associations in North America. Arrangements are being made to entertain at least 1,000 delegates.

—The Pope has ordered that prayers for rain be offered by Catholics throughout Italy. Rain has not fallen for two months. In other countries of Southern Europe the drought has been hardly less persistent. In Southern Russia the crops have suffered great damage.

—The Rev. J. S. Miller, of Columbus, Ind., is a religious turn-coat, who can put to blush the average political representative of that class. Last Sunday he decided to renounce the doctrines of the Episcopal church to become an elder in the Christian church, but has returned to the Episcopal faith, declaring that his act was ill advised and did violence to his most sacred and cherished principles.

—A woman without arms has been married at Christ church, New Zealand. The ring was placed upon the fourth toe of her left foot. A similar marriage to this was performed at St. James church, Bury St. Edmunds, in 1832. The ring was placed on one of the bride's toes, between which she grasped a pen and signed the marriage register.

—A report that an outbreak of miners' disease at Tracy City, Tenn., was expected caused some alarm at Nashville and all the troops in the city were ordered under arms. Later reports showed that the miners were quiet.

—An EXCURSION to CINCINNATI.—The Queen & Crescent Route will run an excursion to the dedication of the new City Hall and a general demonstration in honor of that event will take place at Cincinnati May 13th. Tickets will be sold from all stations in Kentucky at one fare for the round-trip, good going on trains arriving at Cincinnati the morning of May 13 and good to return on trains of May 13 and 14. D. The Meeting of the C. K. M. A.

The Central Kentucky Medical Association assembled in Walton's Opera House on Wednesday last and at 10:30 A. M. was formerly opened by Dr. Carpenter, who, as the retiring president, delivered a valedictory address entitled "Professional Renovations." The president-elect, Dr. Harrod, of Harrodsburg, being absent the chair was occupied by the vice president, Dr. Harry Cowan, of Danville, during the session. After the call to order and reading the minutes, the subject for discussion was opened with a paper by Dr. T. O. Meredith, of Burgin, on Typhoid Fever. This elicited an interesting discussion. The gist of the subject was this: The great objects in the treatment of fever itself are to limit and reduce excessive heat by direct and indirect means; to limit and repair destruction and degeneration of tissues and organs by alimentation; to provide matters for consumption in the abnormal production of heat, and thus to place the system in the most favorable condition for recuperation after the disease shall have run its course.

Report of the Section in Gynecology and Obstetrics was made by Dr. Harry L. Cowan, of Danville. After its reading a most instructive as well as fine essay on The Antisepic Prophylaxis of Asiatic Cholera was read by Dr. George Cowan, of Danville, Cholera, unlike yellow fever, is a great respecter of persons. "Yellow Jack" claims alike the aristocrat and the peasant for its victims, but cholera seeks by natural choice denizens of unsanitary situations; in other words, it flourishes in filth. Those with clean environments and simple precautions looking to avoidance of close proximity or contact with infected persons or materials, may feel reasonably assured of safety.

An "In Memoriam" of the late distinguished Dr. Charles H. Spilman, who died at Hopkinsville in Dec., 1892, was read by Dr. A. D. Price, of Harrodsburg.

After the reading of this, Dr. W. B. McClure, of Lexington, read an interesting paper on "Chronic Hyper trophy of the Tonsils." This brought out an animated discussion, enjoyed alike by specialists and non-specialists.

There was but one memoir added to the Association, Dr. Wm. D. Powell, of Harrodsburg, which is unusual, as at each quarterly meeting two or more are added to the fold of regular members.

There were verbal reports of cases; exhibition of books, plates, instruments and pathological specimens, making, altogether, the April quarterly a most interesting meeting.

A vote of thanks was extended the profession of Lincoln for their hospitality and to Mr. W. P. Walton for the use of his Opera House.

After some other miscellaneous business, the Society adjourned to meet at Harrodsburg on Wednesday, July 19th, next. The discussion will be opened by Dr. Monfort on Tuberculosis of Joints, and Dr. E. M. Wiley will make the report on Practical Medicine.

DO YOU WANT TO ADOPT A BABY?

May I think this is a new business, sending out babies for adoption? It has been done before, however, and I have seen published books on the subject, and I am sure that it is safe and perfect, and I believe it will be safe with you. Well, that's the sweetest baby I ever saw! This little black and white engraving can give you but a faint idea of the exquisite original.

"I'M A DAD!"
which we propose to send to you, transportation paid. The little darling rests against a pillow, and is in the act of drawing off the pink socks, the index-finger pulled back to the knee, and the middle finger to the toe.
The flesh tints are perfect, and the eyes follow you, no matter where you stand. The exact reproductions of this greatest painting of Ida Waugh (the most celebrated of modern painters) who has sold over 100,000 copies and who subscribes to Demarest's Family Magazine for 1884. The reproductions cannot be told from the original, which cost $10, and are the same size (12x18 inches). The baby is the most absolutely lifelike. We are also in preparation, to present to our subscribers during 1884, other great pictures by such artists as Percy Moran, Ward Hunt, H. C.
Louis Deschamps, and others of well-known reputation. We will also publish a series of well-drawn portraits this year, "A Yard of Paintings," and "A White House on the Hill" by the wife of President Harrison, and who will be what our promises mean.

Those who subscribe to Demarest's Family Magazine for 1884 will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides a Magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and entertaining articles. The magazine is sent on the 15th of the month, and all the fads and different items of interest about the household, besides interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family. The whole magazine is a valuable possession. The fashion pages are perfect, and we give you, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription now, and you will receive over $5 in value. Address the publisher,

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

In Skilled Labor We Are Destined to Conquer," says Miss Pierson.

Miss Bella Pierson, a compositor on the New Albany Ledger, has lately been appointed state organizer of the Federation of Labor for Indiana. A late number of The Courier-Journal contains a delightful sketch of this young lady. Gallant Colonel Henri Watterson's paper has always a good word for women workers. It is the duty of Miss Pierson in her new office to travel from town to town in Indiana, call mass meetings, make speeches and organize associations of working people. From The Courier-Journal's sketch we find that Miss Pierson has quickly supported herself at typesetting since the age of 16. She now supports her mother also. From setting type many a printer's ambition has soared to preparing the matter that is put into type, and this aspiration has struck Miss Pierson too. She writes considerably for the press on labor questions, particularly those matters in which workers of her own sex are concerned. She expresses it as her firm conviction that in the departments of skilled labor women are bound to conquer. So they are. But one statement I regret to find this brave, bright girl making. It is that woman is woman's worst enemy in the labor ranks, and that when a girl engages in a work hitherto done only by men she is hindered as much as possible by her own sex. I have not found it so, certainly. The guide that the dearest, warmest, truest sympathizers with working women are women themselves. Perhaps in that funny but rigid system of caste prevalent in small towns a printer girl would be looked down on by lazy girls and married women who call themselves the social leaders of the ridiculous little aristocracies they always set up, but in the great, thrbbing life of the city people of intelligence are recognizing the dignity and worth of the woman who earns her own living.

Miss Pierson's statement about women's being against working women reminds me, however, of an experience of my own in a certain funny little town. It was a village of a few hundred inhabitants. Farcical and my own adventurous disposition had set me down there. I determined to learn typesetting at the office of the village newspaper. Two or three women who regarded themselves of more importance than the Vanderbilt and Astor houses have ever seemed to do disapproved of the idea. I was wanted on and informed in due order that the ladies would never think so much of me again or care to "associate" with me if I went into that newspaper office. "Then I'll be sure to do it," I answered, and I did. It amuses me not a little that society was going to sit on me. It always does amuse me when anybody, man or woman, tries to sit on me. Moreover let me say this for the comfort of timid souls who fear to do some honorable work on which their hearts are set for dread. Mrs. Grundy will frown too bravely on. Do your chosen work royally and splendidly, with all your soul in it. Let nothing distract you and by and by you will make a success of it. Then Mrs. Grundy will come to you and lay her choicest laurels at your feet.

It gives one a feeling of pride and triumph to know that every portion of the beautiful building devoted to the women's department at the World's fair was designed by women, its construction superintended by women and its contents arranged under the direction of women.

We do not hear the expression, "a woman of masculine intellect," so much as we would any more. Women have come to that point in the world's development where they are allowed to have intellects of their own.

The late Mrs. F. C. Eting of Philadelphia made a great success in the business of raising fresh eggs for market. She went into it so extensively that she spent $1,500 in incubators, chicken houses, etc., but she realized over 20 per cent profit on her investment annually.

Don't fall into that lazy, despicable way of saying that men can learn things and understand things that women cannot. Say always, I can understand anything that a man or anybody else can.

Mrs. Harriet Strong of Whittier, Cal., last year raised 2,000,000 plumes of the beautiful pampas grass so much used in decoration and sold them nearly all. One million will adorn the buildings of the World's fair, and she exported 650,000 to Europe. Mrs. Strong has been the first person to grow these pampas plumes extensively in North America. Formerly they all came from South America. The last presidential campaign was lucky for Mrs. Strong, 100,000 of the plumes being used in parades and decorations.

Mrs. Beazley, a Philadelphia woman, invented the cooperage machine which turns out thousands of perfectly finished barrels every day. She is also the inventor of a life raft which may be tossed into the sea in any shape, but will always right itself instantly and float safely. It contains pockets which the sea cannot enter that are always filled with water and provisions for use of the shipwrecked.

The subjects chosen for public lectures by Miss Cora A. Bonner, graduate of Michigan university and member of the Illinois bar, show what women are thinking about. One of her lectures is on the annexation of Hawaii, another about "Our Diplomatic Relations With China and the Restriction of Chinese Immigration."

The Arkansas building at the Chicago fair was planned by a young lady, Miss Jem Loughborough, who also had charge of its construction.

The Marquis of Queensberry continues his crusade in favor of a plurality of wives. But the noble marquis is very narrow, selfish and one-sided in his views. He is quite unwilling also to allow a plurality of husbands.

The president of the Mount Pleasant (Tex.) National bank is a woman, Mrs. Annie Moore.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

HE DID NOT LIE.

But the Drummer Concluded Upon Investigation Not to Lie.

"What are you thinking about?" asked the hotel clerk of the drummer, who sat by the fire in a brown study.

"About investing some money I have in real estate," replied the drummer.

"How much?"

"All I've got about $1,000."

"Where is the real estate?"

"In a western town. You saw that man I've been talking to for an hour or so who left here a while ago?"

"Yes."

"Well, I just got on a train today, and he got me interested in a town out west called Heberon. It's only about 3 years old, he says, but it has been coming up at a phenomenal rate. He had me and staff here this evening till you couldn't rest, and he told me five acres within half a mile of the center of the town for $1,000."

The clerk devoted a moment to viewing with a thought.

"What's the population of the place?"

"He didn't say, but he said it was 25 times greater than it was in 1890, when the first settler came in. He said, too, that the number of houses had increased 100 per cent each year for the three since the first lots were laid out."

"That's a good showing," said the clerk, "in fine showing, but did he say how many houses there were put up the first year?"

The drummer looked queer.

"No, he didn't," he replied.

The clerk went around behind the counter and came back with a newspaper.

"He doesn't care to real estate maps out west," he said: "I'll look for your town." At last he went on after a moment, "There are 1,000 houses in a boom town, one house up to 1,500, two in 1891, 1892 and yet no population. Population in 1890, 1,000; in 1891, 2,000; estimate for 1893, 2,500."

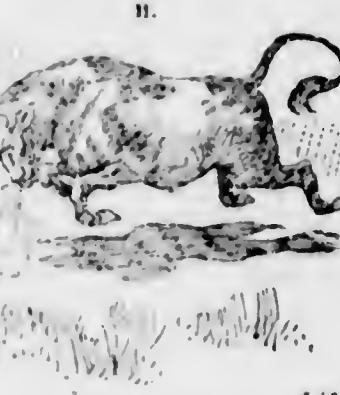

The drummer looked queer.

"Well, I'm glad you're here," said the drummer, with a smile.

"What's the interest your thousand?"

The drummer groaned long, low whistled and went to bed. —Detroit Free Press.

Life and After.

—Life.

What They Did.
An officer in the treasury at Washington, who was a resident of that city at the time of the commencement of the "little dispute," witnessed the hasty return of the panic stricken Union troops after the first battle of Bull Run. The whole city was in a great state of excitement, and for a few hours everything seemed completely demoralized. Each man had some awful story to tell and had no trouble in finding an audience to listen to his recital.

Among other veracious accounts was that given by a colored teamster from a Virginia regiment, who attracted quite a crowd of eager listeners in Willard's hotel.

"Do fast time we knew we had to be sappers comin', an I should tink dar war millions on millions. De cap'n ob de regiment singed out, 'Drop down dar! Drop down dar!' But, law, twa'n't no use! De bugshells come an' took dar heads clear off!"

"Dis chile tink him dead for suah, an' in de confusion Massa Gibbons' mules got loose, wid six niggers on 'em an' run smack and smooe into Massa Lankum's lines and captured ourselves!" —Youth's Companion.

A Kind Hearted Man.

"The charge against the prisoner," said the judge, addressing the witness, "is cruelty to animals, and you have been called to testify in his favor. What do you know about him?"

"I never knew him to be cruel to animals. Why, that there man, judge, feeds his pet bulldog on beefsteak. Cruel to animals? Why, I've known him to kick his wife for not taking good care of his dog." —New York Press.

Mark Had Better Look Out.

The most striking feature of St. Mark's, in Venice, is the profusion of mosaics, which are said to cover 50,000 square feet and are much like faded paintings in appearance. High up in the facade is the Lion of St. Mark, which one sees repeated in every material and manner. The author of "College Tramps" gives an experience with a guide which suggests that Italians do not appreciate American humorists.

We passed out, he says, into the work of several artists who were busily putting upon their canvases the image of the gorgious interior.

While in the cathedral, our guide, who was pointing out and explaining the different objects of interest, waved his hand toward the magnificent bronze altar and whispered impressively: "Gentlemen, at the bottom under this grande altare reposa ze grande san Marco, patron de Venezia. Il è brought here from Alexandria, 1,000 years."

"Ah," said N—, "he is the gentleman who owned the lion. Is—he dead?"

The guide's face grew livid, and his hand flew to his stiletto—it may have been for his handkerchief—his hand flew somewhere anyway.

"Is you call Marco Twain?" he asked.

"No," replied the trembling N—, "my name is—Lion Twain."

The guide had a name, but muttered, "Zat Marco Twain h'v made one big fool of ze guide professor in Italia, and all ze guide have conjoined to keel him soon as he come once more."

N— was his most patient auditor for the rest of the morning. —Youth's Companion.

Modern Life of Caesar.

A boy in one of the Detroit public schools recently bounded in this composition on Julius Caesar:

Julius Caesar was a Roman citizen. He wasn't much at first, but he grew up with the country and after he bunched the conventions and got elected boss. One fourth of July or something Caesar went up to the capitol to see about a bill. A man met him on the steps and told him to beware of the ideas of March. Caesar laughed "Ha, ha," and told the man to depress the front of his westcot and went on into the big joint. Some time afterward he came out again and adjourned to the S. P. Q. R. saloon, where a lot of Roman senators, members and office seekers were leaning up against the counter. Caesar offered to pay for the drinks, but nobody accepted his invitation, and he dropped to the fact that there was blood on the moon. Then somebody said something about his not having paid his terrine when he crossed the Rubicon, and butcher knives began flying through the atmosphere. Pretty soon Caesar saw Brutus, his next door neighbor, coming at him with a stick and that paralyzed him. "What has of you, Brutus?" he exclaimed and laid right down, and in a few minutes the patrol wagon drove up to the door. Just the same, yet Caesar was no slouch. Vale, Jules! —Detroit Free Press.

It Would Stay Out.

The rubber industry is one of the most profitable of this generation. Collis P. Huntington once said to the writer that if he were a young man with $100,000, he would go to Africa and engage in the rubber business.

"Why?" said the rail-road magnate, "you can buy crude rubber on the Congo—away up in the interior—for a penny a pound, and when you get it down to the coast you can sell it for nearly 100 times as much. I know of no better opening for young men of grit and nerve."

"But, Mr. Huntington," said the young man to whom the remark was addressed, "what would you do if you didn't have the $100,000?"

"I would start with $10,000," was the reply.

"But suppose you didn't have the $10,000?"

"Well, in that case I guess I wouldn't go into the rubber business at all." —New York Tribune.

Retaliation.

He had been frequently the victim of his wife's practical jokes. He was troubled most of a neighbor who was called in to tell fortunes with the cards, and at the wife's previous suggestion always got the laugh on him by recalling some alleged incident of his past life that never occurred, seeing some blushing woman near him that was going to cause future trouble, or having him tangled up in a scrape which he would be the last man to encounter. The other day he found a peregrinating phrenologist on the street.
He asked the old fraud to the house and told him on the way up that he had a good looking servant girl at his house who was a jewel in her proper capacity, but a good many things had been missed from the house since she came there, and while he could prove nothing he suspected the woman. When they reached the house, the wife was called in, and the bump interpreter was set to work without the preliminaries of an introduction.
He thought he knew the lay of the land and proceeded accordingly.

"This woman," he said, "has keen perceptions. She is shrewd, but somewhat after the manner of a fox. She has a grasping disposition and covets anything pretty that she sees. If I owned this property, I would keep my spoons and other silver locked up. I would leave no money lying around, and as for jewelry—"

But there was a sudden breaking up of the scene. "John, who is this horrid man?
Laughing at him, are you? Get out of here, you miserable old cheat, you —yon puppy, leave this house before I have you kicked out. I'll"— But he was gone on a dead run, and when the husband could regain his breath it was definitely arranged that the days of his persecution were over.—Detroit Free Press.

A Newsboy's Lungs.

One afternoon about 4 o'clock, as the employees of the treasury department were coming out of the big building, two newsboys stood waiting for the clerks.
Both boys were small. One was stout, the other pale and delicate. The larger boy cried his papers in a strong bass voice, while the little fellow's voice was a shril, piping, high, lyric tenor, with a faraway tone. The boy with the bass voice turned round, and with a look of disgust and contempt said to his companion in the news business: "Oh, c'm off. W'y don't yer git a holler on ye?"—
